

Wednesday 25th March

Today's home learning task:

Today you are going to write the beginning of your dinosaur story. The beginning should be interesting and exciting so that the reader wants to keep going.

First, read my story opening.....

One sunny afternoon I was sitting in the garden reading a book when out of the corner of my eye I spotted a beautiful flower. It was taller and brighter than all the others. I got up and walked over to the flower. I got closer so that I could smell it and then all of a sudden the petals wrapped around me and 'whoosh' I was off!

What is good about it? How could it be even better? Think about the writing checklist and the words I have chosen.

Now get your text map and get ready to write the first few sentences of your story. This is just the beginning of your story, try to explain how or why you have travelled back in time and try to hook the reader in so they want to find out what happens next.

Please email your work to me at Year1@greatchesterford.essex.sch.uk
