

Thursday 26th March and Friday 27th March

Today's home learning task:

Lots of you have sent me pictures of your story ideas and text maps. I have really enjoyed looking at them, thank you. I'm impressed that you thought carefully about which dinosaurs lived in each of the time periods and have come up with exciting things that will happen.

You've probably guessed what I'm going to ask you to do today! Please use your story map and finish writing your story. Take your time with it and write your very best story. There's a few things on our class page that will help you; the writing checklist, just like we have on display in the classroom and a list of sight words to help with spelling. You have until Friday to get your story finished. If possible please can you ask an adult or older sibling to help you type your story in Microsoft Word, or notes if you're on an iPhone/iPad so that I can read it easily. You may wish to illustrate it as well.

How will I know if I have done well?

My story writing success criteria
I have written a story about travelling back into time to meet dinosaurs.	I have used my text map to help me plan and remember my story.
I have used a sight word mat to help me spell common words correctly	Writing checklist 1, 2, 3, 4, 5
I have read my story to check that it makes sense.	I have presented my story so it is neat and clear and easy to read.

Please email your work to me at Year1@greatchesterford.essex.sch.uk by Friday afternoon if you can.
