

Monday 23rd March

On Thursday some of the class had a discussion about whether or not they would like to travel back to the time of the dinosaurs. I listened carefully to all their ideas and, even though it might be a bit dangerous, we are all going back in time!!! You are going to be the main character in your very own amazing dinosaur adventure story.

Today's home learning task:

- Choose one of the time periods that we have already learnt about.
- Now think about two or three dinosaurs that you might meet on your adventure (use what you know about the Triassic, Jurassic, Cretaceous periods to choose dinosaurs that lived at the same time. The Natural History Museum website is a good source as you can sort by time period).
- Now think about something really exciting that will happen on your adventure.

- Do your plan in your home learning book and keep it safe. If you want some feedback from me please send a picture of your work to year1@greatchesterford.essex.sch.uk
