

Monday 18th May

Today's home learning activity:

Baking Biscuits

I am attaching PDF document with some maths activities/resources today.

I would recommend that your child has some coins if possible when working on the activity. It may be necessary to spend some time looking at the coins (1p, 2p, 5p, 10p) identifying and describing them. This may be the focus of your child's learning today, and that is fine. Don't feel that you have to move on to the worksheets. Practical activity is incredibly beneficial and they may enjoy setting up a small shop or café.

There are three levels of difficulty within the PDF document, indicated by the stars on the left hand side. If you are not sure which activity will suit your child please email me and I will advise.

Have a good day,

Mrs White
